

Reproductive Toxicity:

Asian Pacific Islander Women's Struggle

for a Hazard-Free Nail Salon Industry

Wednesday

June 4, 2008

7:30pm

-FREE-

The Bay Area is home to hundreds of beauty Salons, most of which employ immigrant female workers from Asian Pacific Islander communities. In recent years, scientific and legislative reports have documented the negative effects of prolonged exposure to cosmetic products like nail polish and other beautifying agents. This includes health problems ranging from increased miscarriages to asthma and respiratory ailments. These reports often go unnoticed, as do API women's health issues in a society that marginalizes immigrants and women of color.

Come hear what local community-based organizers from the Asian Law Caucus, National Asian Pacific American Women's Forum, and Asian Communities for Reproductive Justice are doing to mobilize workers and challenge politicians to ensure that nail salons are safe and healthy working environments for all.

national asian pacific american women's forum

for our bodies, our lives, our families, our world

Asian Communities for Reproductive Justice

ASIANLAWCAUCUS

IN DEFENSE of CIVIL RIGHTS

亞洲法律聯會

Văn Phòng Luật S? Á Châu

{ presented by the Bay Area Coalition for Our Reproductive Rights (BACORR)
as part of an educational series on reproductive justice and health
for more info. visit www.bacorr.org }

Reproductive Toxicity:

Asian Pacific Islander Women's Struggle

for a Hazard-Free Nail Salon Industry

Wednesday

June 4, 2008

7:30pm

-FREE-

The Bay Area is home to hundreds of beauty Salons, most of which employ immigrant female workers from Asian Pacific Islander communities. In recent years, scientific and legislative reports have documented the negative effects of prolonged exposure to cosmetic products like nail polish and other beautifying agents. This includes health problems ranging from increased miscarriages to asthma and respiratory ailments. These reports often go unnoticed, as do API women's health issues in a society that marginalizes immigrants and women of color.

Come hear what local community-based organizers from the Asian Law Caucus, National Asian Pacific American Women's Forum, and Asian Communities for Reproductive Justice are doing to mobilize workers and challenge politicians to ensure that nail salons are safe and healthy working environments for all.

national asian pacific american women's forum

for our bodies, our lives, our families, our world

Asian Communities for Reproductive Justice

ASIANLAWCAUCUS

IN DEFENSE of CIVIL RIGHTS

亞洲法律聯會

Văn Phòng Luật S? Á Châu

{ presented by the Bay Area Coalition for Our Reproductive Rights (BACORR)
as part of an educational series on reproductive justice and health
for more info. visit www.bacorr.org }